Lone warrior

You have no doubt, life is a race in which you do not sign up only to participate because the human race is divided into two: the winners and losers. Life appears to you as a continuous sequence of challenges. You seek for quality and commitment without surrender. You judge situations and measure people. Confidence is a luxury that you can't afford.

Diplomatic

You judge situations and measure people on a case by case basis. You face with challenges that you can win nevertheless you do not avoid conflicts. You do not like to lose, and you choose what is worth fighting for. What you lack is sometimes a burst of intense passion.

Flower child

Interpersonal relationships and cooperation are essential for you because man is made to rejoice in sharing with others. It does not matter if others point to the dominance and power, your commitment is to promote cooperation even if the unconditional trust can have a cost.
